"Ciajeòle", between sculpture and sweetness

Beyond "Ciajeòle" (in the picture: the poster of the event with works by the craftsmen), Moena counts other neighborhoods like "Pezzè" and "Turchia", probably so called because of the presses which were concentrated here to practice craftsmanship activities.

"Ciajeòle" is the most ancient part of Moena, where the shepherds first settled down, on the shores of a lake which is disappeared by now. This quarter, which takes its name from "ciajea" (where the cheese was produced), organizes a festival today and tomorrow. Among haylofts, houses and courtyards in this picturesque part of the "Fairy of the Dolomites", taverns and kiosks offer tastings of Ladin specialities: not only the king of the gastronomy of Fassa, the cheese "Puzzone di Moena", but also many sweetnesses such as the "fortaes" (fried dough with blueberry jam). Moreover, it is possible to take part to shooting galleries, to vote the works realized on Thursday and Friday during the "sculpture symposium" on wooden masks and, tonight, to have fun with music by "Estro".

Amazing hikes

From Alba to Val de Grepa

From Alba take the cable car that brings to the wide hollow of Ciampac, from where you can enjoy a wonderful view over Sella and Sassolungo. From here take path n. 654, which goes up to Pian de Sele (2.352 m - 0,15 h). Here begins a long and delightful descent towards the grassy Val de Grepa, packed during summer with grazing cows and horses. You will reach the areas of Poze, Ardonei, Fraine and Coi, passing by the feet of Col de Zacaron and Col de Jiadoi. The path leads to the village of Fontanazzo, enters the wood and becomes steeper until it arrives at the stroll in the valley bottom that skirts the river Avisio (2,30 h). After passing through the bridge over the stream you can reach the village, where you can take the public transports to go back to Alba. (Timetables available at the tourist offices).

Passepartout

Watercolours and nature

Nothing is better than the green grazing and the brilliant colours of the rocks of the Dolomites at dawn and sunset to learn the technique of painting with watercolours. Today and tomorrow Rifugio T. Taramelli, on the group of Monzoni, proposes a "Watercolouring course" to practice this artistic technique, with a pinch of theory and much still – life painting, plunged in the natural environment of the Dolomites (activity against payment, info: 0039 3771067701). Tomorrow, then, a "mail art" workshop for children is scheduled, to create illustrated letters, envelopes, postcards, decorated stamps and "Artists' book" (free course; info: 0039 3482521066). You can get to Taramelli going up along Val S. Nicolò by car, and park in Pian de l'Ancona. Proceed on foot along the forest road and on path n. 603 (1,45 h).

Did you know that...

The legend about King Laurin and his Rose Garden was rearranged by the Grimm brothers in 1866 in their "Deutsches Händelbuch" (book about the German heroes). The authors tell that Laurin kidnapped the beautiful Smilde, daughter of the King of Syria and brought her to the mountains on the left side of the river Adige. To make her happy, he created an enchanted garden among the clefts, but her brother arrived with the army and brought the girl back home. The frantic Laurin transformed the garden in pinnacles that only at dawn and sunset reflect red brilliances reminding the flowers.

To participate in the initiatives for guests is compulsory to register at least one day in advance at the Tourist Offices of the Val di Fassa Card (ask your employer accommodation). The activities are reserved for guests of the associated structures all'Apt Val di Fassa.
