The "Mèscres" at the country fair

"El Grop de la Mèscres de Cianacei e Gries" was born many years ago and remained active until the Seventies, when because of several reasons it broke up. In 1997 it has been re-formed (for the first edition of "Te anter i Tobie") and now it is the soul of many fairs.

You will hear their "bronsins" (cowbells fastened to gun belts), echoing from far away and thanks to this call you will easily reach the square next to the roundabout in Strèda de Pareda, where the country fair of "Grop de la Mèscres de Cianacei e Gries" takes place. The masks group of the village, that keeps alive the ancient traditions about the most important profane cycle of the year, offers in the middle of the summer a taste of the traditional carnival of Fassa, unique for its characters and rituals in all the Alps, with an extraordinary exhibition at 3.30 p.m. Actually, the programs sees at 11.00 a.m. the merry music notes of "Werni", the possibility to taste typical dishes of the Ladin cuisine until 11.00 p.m., while from 7.00 p.m. much folk music to dance with "Die zwei Hoderlumpen".

Easy walks

From Moena to Malga Roncac

To discover Moena's surroundings: cross the picturesque hamlet of Sorte and ascend till the turn before the restaurant Malga Panna. From here turn right into the path "Roncac-Col Ros e Costalongia". After a short ascent, the route becomes flat and faces the Valley of San Pellegrino, visible because of the absence of the wood. Continue walking, cross the bridge and ascend a bit. The path flattens again and arrives into the forest road that brings you to Costalunga. Now descend on the right along a large track, cross Rif de Costalongia stream and walk till you reach Malga Roncac. Proceed to the hamlet on Strada de Roncac, Strada de Even and Strada de la Madonina streets, pass by the Church and the fountain "del Dante": from here you can go back to the centre (2 hrs.).
