Did you know that...

The very first botanical studies in Trentino date back to the 16th century. The first plants and flowers researchers were interested above all because of their connection with empirical medicine. During the 17th century, some botanists arrived at Val di Fassa, and in the evening, instead of resting, they frequented the smoky inns to classify plants and flowers picked up during the day. In 1855 the document "Flora Tiroliae Cisalpinae" wrote by the doctor of Val di Fassa Francesco Facchini Pontera was published, in which local flora and fauna were officialised with exhaustive descriptions.

To participate in the initiatives for guests is compulsory to register at least one day in advance at the Tourist Offices of the Val di Fassa Card (ask your employer accommodation). The activities are reserved for guests of the associated structures all'Apt Val di Fassa.
