At Ciajeòle, among sculpture and folklore

In 2002 the sculptor Feliciano Costa "Parolot" from Moena has founded the "Consorzio Mascherai Alpini". The association gathers a group of sculptors coming from the northeast of Italy. They realize today the unique carnival wooden masks.

Let's get the party started today, in the oldest section of Moena: it is Ciajeòle, where – according to historians – a group of shepherds from Val d'Ega built the primordial settlement (around the year 1000 A.C.) of the modern centre. The name of the characteristic area of the village derives from the word "ciajea", the room where in ancient times people prepared the cheese. According to the tradition that connects Ciajeole to gastronomy, there are today many stands where to taste local cheese, especially the "Puzzone di Moena". Walking through the streets, passing by ancient houses and barns, you will listen to music but above all see the mask makers, sculptors specialized in the production of "faceres", working since 11th July in a special symposium.

Passepartout

The pop turns into a musical with Hosianna

The show is guaranteed when the Hosianna comes on stage. The concert is today at 9.00 pm at Marmolada Cinema in Canazei. Originally, the group, founded in the eighties in Selva di Val Gardena, played only for the celebrations in churches, and keep playing for religious purposes for 30 years. The group gathered adults and children, friends and relatives. Afterwards, the Hosianna begun to play pop and rock music and as a consequence, they came out from churches. The group from Val Gardena boasts talented and passionate players and is composed by thirteen girls and four boys. It is a real band in fact, and in 2011, they organized the first tour in the region. The success was so amazing, that they come again to Val di Fassa to sing.
