"L'ega te cuna": at water's spring

The panels along the itinerary "L'ega te cuna" (water in the cradle) give info on legends of springs, the season of the flow, the pale and dark rocks. There's even a stage named "the river's voice": a Ladin poem by Stefano Dell'Antonio.

Where does the water gush? How is its cycle? How much force has it? Does it speak? You can find the answer to these and other questions when you participate today from 3.30 p.m. to 5.30 p.m. in Penia di Canazei (every Monday till 2nd September) at the meeting "L'ega te cuna". It is an easy free excursion along the stream of Avisio river (which springs at Marmolada's foot and flows into Adige River after 87 km). The event's name comes from a naturalistic itinerary set up last year, composed by 13 stages, signalled with signs detailing information and games. The walk is for children and adults alike, and the naturalist Maurizio Ferneti of the association Albatros, provides info and reveals curiosities on local flora and fauna that interact with the river.

Easy walk

To the water boundary stone between Moena and Soraga

To undertake this "Easy walk", from Ramon Square in Moena, follow the street towards Soraga, till you find the stairway leading to Sameda hamlet on the right side. Walk upwards along Street de Sameda till the small square of the Church of San Rocco. Turn now left on the road that faces the beautiful peaks of Catinaccio and Sassolungo. The road becomes then dirt road and leads, slightly ascending, to Soraga. When you reach the new roundabout at Pezzè you will see a little stream that indicates the antique boarder between the ancient Bishop of Trento and Bressanone. Here is the boundary stone. You then cross Soraga hamlet and descend through Troi de Palua till the river park. Cross the bridge and go back to Moena along the cycle lane.

Passepartout

The light emanated from the Holy Land

Padre Pietro Kaswalder is the protagonist of "Galilea, terra della luce", today at 9.00 p.m. in the parish Church of Pera. The meeting belongs to the festival called "Summer Inspiration", supported by the Deanery of Fassa and the Tourist Board and the event committees of the various villages. Padre Kaswalder, biblical theology at Stadium Biblicum Franciscanum in Jerusalem (where he graduated in 1981 and got the master) tells the reality of the Holy Land. He was born in 1952 in Roverè della Luna in Trentino and he's the author of the books "Onomastica Biblica. Fonti scritte e ricerca archeologica" (Jerusalem, 2002), and with E. Borsetti "Sulle orme di Mosè. Egitto, Sinai e Giordania. Nuova guida biblica e archeologica" (Bologna, 2000).

Did you know that...

In the past, flour merchants from Belluno used the path that links Passo Fedaia with Passo Pordoi in order to cross rapidly the Ladin valleys, avoiding the valley bottom. Flour was bartered with handicraft objects. The path's name comes exactly from its original function: it is called "Viel dal Pan" (pan = bread). The German doctor Karl Bindel, president of the section "Doav-Cai" in Bamberg emphasized it firstly, after covering it at the end of nineteenth century, and he took care of its renovation.

To participate in the initiatives for guests is compulsory to register at least one day in advance at the Tourist Offices of the Val di Fassa Card (ask your employer accommodation). The activities are reserved for guests of the associated structures all'Apt Val di Fassa.
