In the hut with the energy of Eick and friends

Mathias Eick (photo) was born on 26th June 1979 in the Vestfold region (Norway) and in 2007 he awarded the prize "The International Jazz Award for New Talent" in New York. In case of rain the concert takes place at 6.00 p.m. in the main room of the School in Moena.

On the meadows of Malga Canvere, today at 2.00 p.m., the new rising star of jazz: the Norwegian Mathias Eick. The trumpet is his instrument, but he also plays double bass, vibraphone, piano and guitar. The artist, after years with the Jaga Jazzist, chose to undertake the soloist career. Nevertheless he likes the collaborations, as for the today's concert of the festival "Sounds of the Dolomites": in fact he performs with the Italian musicians Paolo Vinaccia, on percussion, and Daniele di Bonaventura, on bandoneon. The concert is a splendid musical meeting, but above all a melting point between Northern and Southern Europe. Reach the venue driving from Moena to Ronchi, thence by cable car, later on foot (path 623) bypassing Lusia Pass (1.45h walk.).

Easy walks

From Pozza to Cianacoal meadows and Meida

Get to the bridge on Avisio River, which links Pozza with the hamlet Meida, and walk along the sidewalk that skirts the state road towards Pera. After 200 metres, leave it, following now the Avisio's flow. Continue until the wooden bridge of Piciocaa. Once you have spanned it, you will arrive in front of a chapel recently restored and a large plain with playground for children. Make your way to the lower path towards Meida, and cross a broad grassy plain in Cianacoal. When you arrive at the asphalt road bearing the same name, you begin to ascend. Afterwards turn right in the Street del Piz and enter Meida, where you find the Church of San Nicolò. From here, follow Street de Meida, getting back to the departure point.

Did you know that...

Once upon a time, when the valley counted just on livestock and little cultivation that grew at high altitude, the harvest represented all for the subsistence farming. Therefore, in the years of famine, there were people accusing the priests to have not sufficiently blessed the fields. To purchase corn it was necessary to go to the Adige Valley, as in Fassa it was not cultivated. However, in the years of shortage, the farmers were forced to sell their fields to the richer German people in order to succeed in buying corn, which could cost even 8 times more than the normal prize.

To participate in the initiatives for guests is compulsory to register at least one day in advance at the Tourist Offices of the Val di Fassa Card (ask your employer accommodation). The activities are reserved for guests of the associated structures all'Apt Val di Fassa.
