HIGHLIGHT

A "HEROIC" SUMMER BEGINNING

Could the daily bulletin "Good morning Val di Fassa" – that everyday informs the guests about the events and the main activity of the day – start in a better way than with the Südtirol Sellaronda Hero? It's the competition that today crowns the 2018 MTB hero and that, after the departure from Selva Gardena at 7.10 a.m., sees its 4018 bikers passing through Canazei and Campitello, chasing the title, as prestigious as difficult to conquer. This is in fact considered one of the hardest MTB races in the world, especially for the long track: 86 km (4.500 metres of altitude gap). For the less trained participants, there is the 60 km track (3.200 m of altitude gap). Both develop on a continuous up and down along the Ladin valleys, around the Sella massif.

Itineraries

"SORA I PRÈ": FROM PERA TO VIGO

"Along the meadows": The track develops along the low slopes of Ciampedie, on the boundary between the wood and the meadows of Sorapoza. The track alternates flat stretches and moderate ascents, it is mostly shady and equipped with tables and benches in some panoramic points. The walk starts from the street Strada de la Taboca in Pera, and goes on until the end of the hamlet, walking on the right side of a woodshed. Ascend a dirt road and turn left among the meadows. After a flat stretch you will gradually meet the wood. Walk towards Pozza (the walk can start also from here, with an easy access from the road "Trois de Vich") and Vigo. You can enjoy the view over Costabella and the group of Valacia on your left. Enter the village of Vigo along Strada de Piz.

Did you know that...

Paul Preuss (1886-1913), famous Austrian climber, defined 6 rules for going to the mountains: 1) one should be superior to the difficulties of the proposed climbs; 2) one should ascend only those climbs that one can safely down climb; 3) the use of artificial aid is justified only in case of sudden danger; 4) Piton should be used only for emergencies; 5) the rope is a facility, not the essential gear to climb; 6) the main principle is the confidence a climber should gain from a realistic esteem of what he is capable of.
