HIGHLIGHT

MARTINA IORI, FELIX ROSSY QUINTET AND RITA PAYES: MINORITY NOTES

A mixture of sounds and ancient languages, capable of dancing throughout the notes. The first concert of the reviews "Minority Languages, Youths and Jazz music", core of the festival "Val di Fassa Panorama Music", hosts tonight at 9.00 p.m. on the stage of the Theatre Navalge in Moena, some ace of the music as expression of the minority cultures. The local artist Martina Iori, who is young but has already made albums and won international prizes, will do the honours with an interesting group of musicians. Then it's the turn of Felix Rossy, trumpet player from Barcelona (born in 1994) who shows his talent with four musicians and, finally, with Rita Payes. The Catalan singer and trombone player, who is only 19 years old, can boast sold out concerts and some million views on YouTube and comes back to Fassa for the second time.

Itineraries

FROM ALBA TO THE CONTRIN REFUGE

The cabin lift from Alba takes you up to Ciampac, where you walk through the grassy hollow and ascend to the left to Forcia Neigra (1,30 h). Follow path no. 613, getting across a pebbly stretch, thanks to the help of a sling that brings to the cleft between Torre Dantone and Sas Neigher. Skirt the rock, descending towards the ridge that separates the valleys Val San Nicolò and Val Contrin. Cross over the side of Varos, reaching Passo San Nicolò (2.338 m). Cross the plain in front of the Marmolada's south face, descend Pré de la Vaces and skirt the rock of Lasté de Contrin. You arrive at Contrin hollow, passing by the namesake stream, then ascend to the namesake refuge (1 h; 4 hrs). Go back to Alba through Val Contrin and along some conclusive steep turns (1h; 5,15 hrs).

Did you know that...

Since the first decades of the eighteenth century, primary schools already existed in every village of Fassa. Only the students of Penia had to go to Alba. Lessons were taught by priests, and when one of these couldn't teach any more, the breadwinners decided altogether who could take his place. The most influential religious authority of the valley was the priest of San Giovanni, to whom the control task was entrusted. After few times he was officially nominated Regio Ispettore Scolastico (Royal School Inspector), with the commitment to visit regularly the schools.
