HIGHLIGHT

"IL CASO KAUFFMAN" WITH GRASSO AND BADALONI

"Il caso Kaufmann" has quickly conquered the critics and readers. It is the first romance of Giovanni Grasso, parliamentary reporter, essayist and, since 2015, press and communication advisor of the President Sergio Mattarella, who will speak about it tonight, at 9 p.m. by the cinema theatre Marmolada in Canazei. On the stage with him, Piero Badaloni. The two journalists, within the festival "Ispirazioni d'estate", will talk about the romance that narrates through 385 pages the subversive love story between an old Jewish man and a young arian lady, as well the intangible atmosphere in which the racial discrimination took advantage of the German people. The book is inspired to the real story of Lehmann Katzenberger and Irene Seiler, recomposed through historic documents and temporal scans of the Nazi persecution devices.

FROM POZZA TO MALGA ALOCH

This walk is suitable to everybody, and it leads from the town-centre of Pozza to Malga Aloch. Once reached the crossroads between Strada de Meida and Strada de Fraina, take the road that passes through the houses and soon leads to a slightly uphill path in the wood. After a first crossroads, go on to the second one and go left, especially if you have children or strollers with you and you want to limit the fatigue. If you go straight, instead, climb shortly to reach the meadows and through them, descend fast to Malga Aloch. From here, you can enjoy a splendid landscape over the villages of Pozza, Vigo and the Roda di Vael. Go back along the same itinerary.

Did you know that...

During the second half of the Nineteenth century, Fassa wa discovered by travelers and explorers. Mostly English, but also German, they were accompanied by local guides with donkeys to the most panoramic places and to the passes Sella, Pordoi and Rolle. There were even some women amongst these romantic travelers. Many explorers would transcript their impressions on diaries, tales and articles. Among the most famous journey, there's that of the alpinist Francis Fox Tuckett (summer 1870), accompanied by his sister Lucy, talented drawer who published drawings and texts about the Dolomites of Fassa, after going back to London.
