The most awarded Italian cyclist of all time is on stage tonight in Canazei at 9 pm by the cinema Marmolada. On May, the popular cyclist from Trentino Francesco Moser published his biography “Ho osato vincere” (“I dared win”) (Mondadori ed. 240 pages 17€), a book about his life and his career which has been especially marked by defeats more than successes. His achievements have been many indeed: first at Giro d'Italia and for five times on the podium, winner of a Milano – Sanremo (after eleven attempts), and of a world cup (nearly won in other occasions). Winner of three consecutive Paris Roubaix (and two second places) moreover, at 33 years Moser scored the hourly record at Mexico City. Itineraries

FROM MOENA TO COL DE POZA AND SAS DA MESODÌ

To undertake this amazing hike you have to drive from the village of Moena to the lower station of Lusia cable car in Ronchi. Leave the car here, take the cable car and stop at the second station. From here prosecute along the dirt road no.622 passing by Malga Pozza. Head south-westwards till the eastern slope of Col de Poza. After the crossroads with path no.614, the trail goes westwards till Sforcela de Pozil (2.147 m; 1 h). Thence turn right on a pathway that connects Col de Poza to Sas da Mesodì through a watershed. Keep walking on the ridge until the peak, at an altitude of 2.300 m (1.30 h). To go back to the cable car station take the path called Troi dei Soldai (Soldiers' path), which start seep eastwards, then goes on with broad bends to arrive to the cable car and come down (2.30 hrs).

Did you know that...

A legend ties the feast of the snow Virgin with the glacier of Marmolada: on the 5th of August in Fassa, everybody had to kick the habit of working at altitude, to honour this religious feast. An avid countrywoman didn't stop working in the fields because of an approaching storm, that would have macerate the grass and wasted her hay harvest. Afterwards, during a night in August, much snow came down, and it stratified so much that it created the glacier on the Marmolada. The ice expanded on the hut of the old woman, making her lose the harvest and transforming her in an ice statue.
