HIGHLIGHTS

“THE MOUNTAINS’ MESSAGE” ACCORDING TO DE STEFANI AND ZENI

What do mountains narrate us when we climb them and discover their most fascinating but also challenging aspects? How do the high-altitude voices interact with the human soul and do they change it? For the festival “Summer Inspirations” today at 9 p.m. by the cinema Marmolada, the professor of holy writings and hiking-passionate Stefano Zeni with the mountaineer Fausto de Stefani explain their personal message from the mountains. Since several years the popular mountaineer, the second Italian to climb all the 14 eight-thousand of the earth, set up with the foundation Senza Frontiere the “Rarahil Memorial School” to help Nepalese people hit by a terrible earthquake the last April.

Itineraries

FROM FONTANAZZO TO CAMERLOI AND CAMPITELLO

Walk along path no.577, leave Fontanazzo di Sotto till you arrive at the forest road on the left. Where the latter crosses the forest road coming from Mazzin, ascend rightwards. Pass an aedicule, enter the flatland and continue to ascend. You will run into the Dona Refuge: the path leads to a plain, where path no.580 arrives. Cross then Camerloi’s meadows, keep ascending and leave path no.580, then rightward to Pas de Ciarejoles. The path descends to Val Duron, in the wide clearing of Ciamp de Grévena. Pass through the alder wood till the valley bottom (0,45h; 3.30 hrs.), get into the dirt road on the right that leads to Micheluzzi Refuge (1.850 m; 0,45 h; 4,15 hrs.), and from here descend to Campitello (0,45 h; 5 hrs.).

Did you know that...

Only from the end of the XVIII century, due to continuous illness and pestilences that hit the valley, a stable medical officer has been nominated. Some official documents, dating back to 1804, prove that the first act of the doctor Giacomo Soraperra was a request to the Judge of Vigo against healers who, with any title, use to work in the valley. Moreover, the medical officer committed in order to spread the usage of vaccines against the most common epidemics which unceasingly hit the population.
